AstaReal® Astaxanthin for Immunity

What is natural astaxanthin?

Astaxanthin is a naturally occurring carotenoid derived from the microalga Haematococcus pluvialis. With its antioxidant, anti-inflammatory and immunomodulating properties, it has a potential ability to both balance and support the immune system. Studies indicate that astaxanthin can improve the body's defence against pathogens and chronic inflammation.

Antioxidants play a crucial role in protecting the human body against free radicals and oxidative stress. Among them, astaxanthin stands out as one of the most powerful antioxidants available, offering robust support for overall health and immunity.
